

QI: THE JOURNAL OF TRADITIONAL EASTERN HEALTH & FITNESSTrad. Chinese MedicineTaijiquan and Internal ArtsQigong and MeditationChinese CultureChinese PhilosophyFeng ShuiOnline StoreThe MeridiansThe Lung MeridianThe Large IntestineThe StomachThe SpleenThe HeartThe Small IntestineThe Urinary BladderThe KidneyThe PericardiumTriple Heater \(San Jiao\)The Gall BladderThe LiverThe DU \(Back Midline\)The REN \(Front Midline\)Extraordinary Points

Select criteria:

☐ Locator ID (LU5)☐ Pinyin Name (Bai Hui)☐ Indications (cough) Full size Interactive AcuModelDU20: BAI HUI

Location: 7 cun above the posterior hairline, midway on a line connecting the apex of both ears, often described as in the "twirl" of the hair.

Indications: Epilepsy, schizophrenia, apoplexy, headache. This is an alignment point that aids in positioning Taijiquan and Qigong practitioners.

Return to Listing

(IE 5 or above will display the point location within a circle, other browsers may only display the general area map)

Best Sellers

Classified Dictionary of Traditional Chinese Medicine

Pulse Diagnosis

Visit Qi Catalog and view our complete line of educational charts, books and videos

Qi Journal Homepage